

Malicious Program vs. Vulnerable Program

The program has been designed to compromise the security of the operating system

→ These exercises are always

The program has not been designed to compromise the security of the operating system

➡ The user executes a legitimate program that executes the malware

● Code Execution Vulnerability : a vulnerability that can be exploited to execute a malicious program

Malicious Program vs. Vulnerable Program

The program has been designed to compromise the security of the operating system

➔ The user executes a malware

The program has not been designed to compromise the security of the operating system

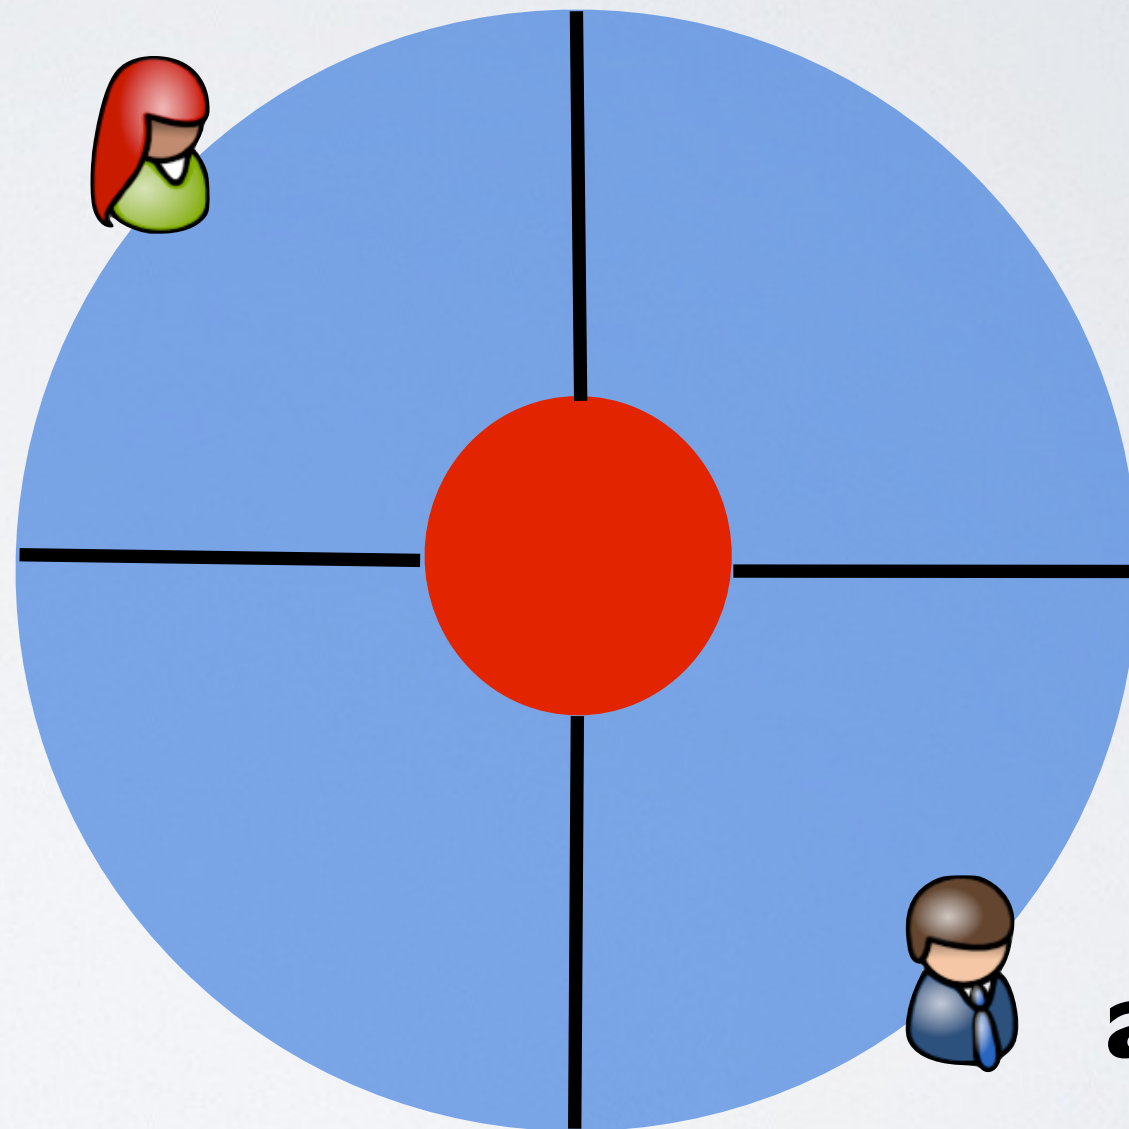

➔ The user executes a legitimate program that executes the malware

◎ Code Execution Vulnerability : a vulnerability that can be exploited to execute a malicious program

Malicious programs executed by the user

Alice

admin
(root)